IT'S TIME TO UPGRADE TO MICROFIBER

@ SHOP NOW
promedsupply.com

If you're using cotton cleaning products at your facility and not getting the sparkling clean you need, it's time to take a look at microfiber.

Microfiber strands are several hundred times smaller than strands of cotton. During the manufacturing process, the microfiber strands are split, creating open spaces in the strand. These tiny openings help microfiber strands get into miniscule nooks and crannies to lift and trap dust, grime and moisture without damaging delicate surfaces.

Microfiber strands are also positively charged. Dirt and dust are negatively charged, so they're attracted to microfiber like a magnet. Impurities stay trapped in the microfiber until they are rinsed out or released in the laundering process.

Microfiber products are perfect for both wet and dry applications and can be used on floors, walls, windows, furniture, restrooms, showers and more!

Other benefits to microfiber:

It's more efficient

- Eliminates streaks, reducing cleaning time
- Absorbs up to seven times its weight
- Cleaning solutions go farther

It's better for your bottom line

- Reduced water and chemical use
- Lasts five to 10 times longer than conventional materials
- Cleans more efficiently, reducing labor and chemical costs

It's better for the environment

- Fewer chemicals are used when cleaning with microfiber
- Uses less water, helping to preserve natural resources

Dust and dirt are attracted to microfiber like a magnet.

Surface Disinfectants

Hydrogen Peroxide Cleaner Disinfectants

Some disinfectant wipes might seem like a good value, but if they're not keeping your surfaces wet long enough to kill bacteria and viruses, they could actually be costing you more money and failing to protect your residents and staff.

Disinfectant wipes must keep a surface wet for the entire labeled contact time in order to kill microorganisms (for example, if a wipe advertises that it kills MRSA in one minute, a surface must remain wet for that entire minute). If wipes are not sufficiently saturated with disinfectant, staff members are forced to use multiple wipes to achieve the desired contact time, costing additional time and money.
